Introduction to Allendale

The Allendale Association is a private, not-for-profit organization located in Lake Villa, Illinois, 50 miles north of Chicago. Founded in 1897, Allendale is dedicated to helping youth with emotional and behavioral challenges, and their families. Allendale's main programs include the following: (1) clinical and community services, (2) educational services, and (3) residential treatment services. The Clinical and Community Services Department consists of Outpatient (therapy and psychological testing for children, adolescents, and adults in the community); Specialized Foster Care (foster placements for youth in care); Community Support Services Program (CSSP - in-home therapy for intensive stabilization and support services and aftercare for the community based children, adolescents and their families); Shelter & Transitional Adolescent Resources (STAR - with two locations in Waukegan and Lake Villa); as well as aftercare services for the Qualified Residential Treatment Program (QRTP). Allendale's Educational Services offers therapeutic day school programs (Stepping Stone at the Lake Villa campus and LINC in Woodstock, IL) that serve at-risk students from local area school districts; the school also provides educational services for the youth in the residential program. Allendale's QRTP provides intensive treatment to youth who have severe emotional and behavioral disorders. The residential program is considered "high end" due to the severity of client acting-out behavior (i.e., significant aggression toward self and others). There are nine units on the Lake Villa campus (including one specialized autism unit).

The Allendale Association is directed by a distinguished board of trustees comprised of 16 men and women representing various races, religions, creeds, and professions. The trustees govern the policies and programs of the Association. They are also responsible for raising private funds to support the capital and operational needs of the Association's programs. The Association is very fortunate to have the support of women's auxiliary groups, as well as the generous support of hundreds of "friends" who financially aid Allendale in providing youth and families with high quality programs and services.

The Outpatient and Stepping Stone programs serve male and female clients and their families. Ninety percent of the clients in our Outpatient program are Caucasian. For the Stepping Stone therapeutic day school program, in FY2024, 46% of the students are African American, 26% are Caucasian, 21% Hispanic, and 7% identify as bi-racial or another race. The clients served by Allendale represent suburban, urban and some rural populations and range in pathology from those who are severely disturbed and/or psychotic to those experiencing family conflicts, marital conflicts, personality disorders, conduct disorder, PTSD, depression, anxiety, ADHD, and adjustment problems.

The psychology internship program is a 12-month full-time program in Allendale's Clinical and Community Services department. The internship also includes providing services to the Stepping Stone therapeutic day school program. The internship typically begins about the third week of August.

Clinical and Community Services

Bradley Counseling Center (Outpatient Services):

This program includes an outpatient counseling center located in Lake Villa, Illinois. Designed to serve children, adolescents, families, and adults, the center employs clinicians and diagnosticians in the fields of psychology, social work, and other allied mental health fields. Individual, group, family, or couple therapy is utilized to provide remediation and relief and to help clients develop more adaptive ways of dealing with personal difficulties. In addition, the counseling center provides anger management services. Comprehensive diagnostic evaluations and psychological assessments are also provided, as well as community consultation and education.

Stepping Stone Therapeutic Day School Program (Part of Allendale's Educational Services)

Stepping Stone is an education treatment alternative provided to youth from the surrounding communities who have serious emotional and behavioral disabilities. The program emphasizes academic, diagnostic, and instructional intervention, clinical consultation, as well as individual and group psychotherapy. These students are not able to be maintained in the special education program of their local school districts due to their emotional and behavioral symptoms, and in particular significant acting-out behaviors such as aggression to self or others. Due to the severity of their behaviors, they require a highly specialized "day only" therapeutic program. This program serves approximately 50 boys and girls from ages 5 to 21. The main source of referrals is the Illinois State Board of Education.

Doctoral Internship in Clinical Psychology

The doctoral internship in clinical psychology is a 12-month, full-time program accredited by the American Psychological Association. The internship is administered by the Director of Clinical Training, along with the Chief Psychologist and the Training Committee. At Allendale, trainees in the internship program are referred to as doctoral psychology interns. The internship program is dedicated to preparing individuals for the practice of clinical psychology and includes opportunities for year-long involvement in two of Allendale's main programs: therapeutic day school treatment and outpatient treatment.

Intern Requirements

Interns must be accepted for doctoral candidacy in psychology prior to beginning the internship. Applicants must have satisfied all academic requirements for their program except internship and dissertation. Although it is not required to have their dissertation complete by the start of internship, it is strongly recommended. They must have passed their comprehensive exams and have completed at least two clinical practica, one in therapy and one in psychological testing. Two thousand hours are required to complete the internship. Additionally, intern applicants should have experience and/or an interest in psychodynamic treatment, working with children/adolescents, and working with a severe mental health population.

Stipend and Benefits

The Allendale Association funds two psychology internships each year with an annual stipend of $35,568 per intern. Medical and dental insurance is provided. Interns receive two weeks paid vacation, holiday, mental health, and sick day benefits. Professional time is available for research/dissertation activities (five days) and conference attendance. Clerical and technical support is also available.

Intern Selection Procedures

The Allendale Association is a member of the Association of Psychology Postdoctoral and Internship Centers (APPIC) and follows APPIC guidelines for intern selection.

Internship Applications

The deadline for all application materials is November 1st.

Program Philosophy and Objectives

The Allendale Association internship program is dedicated to the thorough training of interns in the areas of diagnosis, intervention, consultation, psychological testing, and supervision opportunities. It offers intensive training and experience with diverse treatment populations and exposes the interns to a variety of treatment modalities, including individual, group, and family therapy, as well as clinical consultation (a core component of the REStArT model). The internship is predicated on the belief that a competent psychologist must have a knowledge and understanding of clinical psychology that is grounded in theory and research and the ability to apply that knowledge and understanding to a variety of clinical situations.

The program has a strong psychodynamic influence. The emphasis of the training program is to provide training in core therapeutic skills essential to the practice of clinical psychology; to teach intervention strategies/skills grounded in theory and research; to promote self-examination as a way to understand one's impact on the therapeutic process and the alliance; and to foster the ability to critically examine the efficacy of interventions. The program encourages interns to continually reflect upon the complex relationship among psychological theory, practice, and individual differences, while paying close attention to their own reactions to the client in order to be a self-reflective clinician.

Training Model

Our theorist-practitioner model involves a balance between understanding (conceptualization and theoretical approach) and change (managing the therapeutic alliance and intervening purposely). Theory that is supported by current research is used to generate and test hypotheses about the meaning of a client's behavior based on tracking moment-to-moment session material. Tracking of the process allows the theorist-practitioner to assess the status of the alliance by actively using client feedback to promote a therapeutic relationship. The theorist-practitioner then uses this theory-based understanding within the context of a good working therapeutic alliance to develop interventions designed to effect changes within the client. The effectiveness of these interventions is determined by the degree to which these predicted changes occur following the interventions. An essential component of this model is the ability of the theorist-practitioner to use the “person of the therapist;” that is, to be aware of and to manage his/her own reactions in the therapeutic process in order to maintain this balance between understanding and change.

Training Plan

The ARC Framework:

Attachment, Regulation, Competency (ARC) framework (Blaustein & Kinniburgh, 2019) is used throughout the agency to provide foundational knowledge about trauma and its impact on client behavior. Interns will receive training on the ARC Overview and the first module of ARC during their orientation training. Interns will be expected to review the rest of the materials on their own and discuss its use during the monthly Professional Issues Group during the first 6 months of training.

The REStArTSM Model:

Interns are trained in the Relational Re-Enactment Systems Approach to Treatment (REStArTSM) model. Throughout the training, interns receive didactic training regarding the model, starting in orientation and continuing through seminars, supervisions, trainings, staffings, meetings, and consultations. The model integrates psychodynamic/object relations, systems, neurobiology, trauma and attachment theories (McConnell & Taglione, 2012 and 2016). For further information on this model, please see our website (<https://allendale4kids.org/for-professionals/restart/>).

Orientation:

During the first two weeks of the training year, the interns are oriented to the Outpatient and Stepping Stone programs. The goal of orientation is to acclimate each intern to the Allendale Association at the professional and interpersonal level. During this period, the interns are introduced to supervisors, seminar instructors, and staff members, and become familiar with the clinical and administrative functioning of each program, and with the goals and objectives of each training seminar. Particular emphasis is placed upon the role of the intern in each treatment program. Following the orientation training, the interns begin their assignments.

Therapeutic Day School Assignment:

Interns are assigned year-long duties in the Stepping Stone program, starting after orientation. The interns see Stepping Stone individual clients, co-facilitate two groups with the classroom teacher, and provide clinical consultation to each of the students’ families in conjunction with the teacher. Interns begin providing clinical consultation after obtaining training regarding clinical consultation and having a dialogue with staff regarding the process.

Interns are considered part of the core treatment team, along with the classroom teacher, and they participate in the classroom meetings as part of the leadership of the classroom. The interns begin attending these meetings during orientation, with a brief period of observation in order to bring questions to core team consultation with the Stepping Stone Director and Clinical Consultant and/or individual supervision prior to taking on the consultant role. The individual and family case assignments are supervised by a therapy supervisor, who is a licensed psychologist. This supervisor works with the interns on all aspects of their clinical work with Stepping Stone clients, including consultation to the school staff.

Interns are also active in the IEP (Individual Education Plan) meetings held annually on each of their individual and family cases. Participants in the IEPs include the student, Stepping Stone staff and administrators, school district representatives, and parents. In these meetings, interns provide information regarding the meaning of a client's behavior, treatment goals and progress, as well as recommendations through written reports and verbal feedback.

Outpatient Assignment:

Interns take on an outpatient therapy caseload in September, after they have begun the Stepping Stone assignments. This experience at Allendale's Bradley Counseling Center includes direct service hours in the areas of individual and family. They may also provide anger management curriculum upon client request. Clients come to the agency through a variety of referral sources including insurance (including Medicaid), schools, court system, physicians, EAP (Employee Assistance Program) providers, and DCFS (Department of Child and Family Services). Clients seen in outpatient include children, adolescents, and adults who present with a wide range of psychological problems. The clients come from a variety of socioeconomic and ethnic backgrounds.

In addition to providing therapy services, interns provide psychological testing in the outpatient program, depending on referrals. These psychological evaluations include any of the following: providing a comprehensive assessment of a client's functioning, making differential diagnoses to aid in treatment recommendations, developing appropriate treatment plans, and evaluating anger management issues. Interns will determine, in conjunction with their supervisor, which tests to administer to each client based on their unique presenting problem, question for testing, and available resources. Supervision of assessments is provided by members of the Training Committee in a group supervision format.

Due to client availability, the outpatient assignment includes the intern having eight evening hours after 5pm, typically on two evenings per week (from 5pm-9pm). Each intern is assigned to an outpatient supervisor with whom they meet for one hour weekly throughout the training year. This supervisor is a licensed clinical psychologist, who is responsible for working with interns on all aspects of their clinical work with outpatient clients.

Interns also spend two to four hours per week providing intake services. The primary focus is assessing the client's appropriateness for outpatient services. This involves taking calls from people seeking treatment, identifying the presenting problems, and collecting identifying and background data. Interns may also have the opportunity to manage high priority or "crisis" calls during their intake shift (i.e. assessing suicidal/homicidal clients or possible abuse cases to determine the appropriate level of intervention or responding to a sense of urgency from the client, parent, or school). Interns are assigned an intake supervisor who provides supervision on all intake calls for approximately the first two months. After that, interns transition to utilizing the supervisor as a consultant.

After being involved in outpatient intake for the beginning of the year, interns become part of the staff rotation for on-call coverage. During this period, interns are available by phone if clients are in need of crisis intervention after hours and the client's therapist is not available. The typical rotation for on-call coverage involves staff and interns to be on-call for approximately one month.

Each intern attends weekly case staffings in which the outpatient cases are staffed at admission, discharge, and during the course of treatment. The cases are reviewed by the clinical staff, interns, and practicum students to ensure accuracy of diagnosis, appropriateness of treatment plan, and progress toward stated goals as part of the peer review/file audit process of our Quality Improvement (QI). The interns participate through case presentations as they take on outpatient cases or if they have a high-priority intake in which they opened a file. Interns also provide feedback to other presenters. Interns become part of the staff rotation for being notetaker and chairperson.

Group Assignment:

In the Stepping Stone program, interns have the opportunity to work with a classroom teacher to co-lead structured Life Plan and community groups. Interns would begin these groups after being oriented to the groups and offered an opportunity to dialogue with the teacher and supervisors about implementation of the groups. The group work for Stepping Stone groups is supervised by the Stepping Stone Clinical Consultant (a licensed psychologist) and the Director of the Stepping Stone program.

The supervision for the Stepping Stone groups focuses on teaching group intervention skills from a dynamic, interactional and relationally-based perspective, from a trauma informed perspective.

Consultation:

Interns provide consultation to school personnel on an as-needed basis throughout the year. They participate in school clinical meetings where individual clients are discussed. Additionally, they provide Clinical Consultation to Stepping Stone families on their caseload in a multidisciplinary team.

Supervision:

Interns are offered the opportunity to practice the role of supervisor through the Psychodynamic Interventions Seminar. The first part of the seminar is didactic (see below), and then the interns will present cases. After presenting their own case, interns will have the opportunity to facilitate group discussions with other seminar attendees (non-intern attendees). The focus is on interns developing skills in providing supervision by facilitating discussion around a case. Interns receive supervision on their supervision by members of the Training Committee in a group supervision format. Didactics presented in this group supervision at the beginning of the year review the developmental processes of supervision, including Goodyear et al. (2014) and Clay (2017).

Assessment/Testing:

All interns will attend trainings at the beginning of the year to review the assessments/treatment feedback measures used in the outpatient program (Columbia-Suicide Severity Rating Scale, Ohio Scale, PHQ-9, and Treatment Feedback Form). Interns then utilize these assessments/feedback measures in their supervision to form accurate assessments of each client, incorporating the data into their documentation, throughout the course of treatment. This ongoing assessment of the client helps guide the case conceptualization and interventions for each case.

Additionally, interns attend didactics regarding the tests typically used in the anger management program and to discuss the process of anger management evaluations/psychological testing comprehensive assessments. Interns then provide anger management evaluations through the outpatient program, depending on referrals, and have the option to provide comprehensive assessments based on referrals. These cases are supervised by members of the Training Committee in a group supervision. Cases are assigned as they are available and after the interns have begun the didactics and are able to take on cases. When an intern is completing a comprehensive testing case, the hours that are billed count towards that intern's clinical hours for the month the testing case is being completed; an anger management evaluation counts as one weekly client hour for the month in which it is completed. Through supervision, interns receive guidance in selecting, administering, scoring, and interpreting assessment measures, organizing test findings, integrating the findings into a written report, and providing feedback and recommendations to referral sources.

Seminars and Didactic Training:

In addition to their individual supervision, interns participate in the following seminars and training features:

Psychodynamic Interventions Seminar:

In this seminar participants will learn the components of evidence-based treatment, Jonathan Shedler's (2010) article on the efficacy of psychodynamic therapy (citing several meta-analyses), and neurobiological research supporting some psychodynamic concepts. Didactics will include: a review of "core sensitivities" (Poulson, 2017), Shedler's seven distinctive features of psychodynamic technique, relationship-based therapeutic skills (Norcross and Lambert, 2018) and cultural humility (Hook, et al. 2013). Emphasis will be placed upon diagnosing personality/character structures; applying specific interventions deemed effective in reducing the intensity and frequency of maladaptive defenses; and providing opportunity for expression of the real self of these personality disorders (Masterson & Lieberman, 2004). Within the framework of a psychodynamic understanding of the structure of the anti-social personality disorder, certain interventions (including some motivational interviewing techniques) to work effectively with this disorder will also be presented (REStArT). The seminar will begin with a didactic overview of theory and technique. Audiotape presentations from participants will then be used to apply these theoretical approaches and techniques to therapy. Each presenter will present for three consecutive times for the first round of presentations and then three consecutive times for the second round of presentations.

Professional Issues Group:

This meeting is led by the Director of Clinical Training and meets monthly. The interns, externs, post-docs, new staff, director, and supervisors meet for one hour to exchange information regarding training, professional development, and scholarly material related to the field of clinical psychology, including discussion of patient-focused research, diversity related to the population served at Allendale, psychological testing, ethics, self-care, and licensure. Scholarly material related to treatment is discussed in the context of specific cases that supervisors and trainees bring to the group to receive feedback about a specific question.

Continuing Education Presentations:

Allendale offers monthly continuing education programs for psychologists and social workers. The interns attend these presentations throughout the training year. These two or three hour presentations cover a wide range of topics in the field of psychology, including assessment, treatment interventions, supervision, professional conduct and ethics, specialty topics, and cultural and human differences. The majority of the presentations are provided by outside speakers with an expertise in their topic area.

Training in Culture/Diversity:

Interns encounter diversity in many ways across the different program areas. Our program utilizes the construct of “cultural humility” to create a broad lens to reflect on issues of culture. We emphasize as many factors as possible that comprise a client’s cultural make-up so that issues of diversity are always salient and intersect at many points for both the client and the therapist.

Interns also receive didactics regarding diverse populations throughout the year. During orientation, the program offers didactic training regarding diversity issues that relate to the populations served in each of the program areas, particularly regarding the unique cultural challenges in working with clients who present with severe acting out and their families. Additionally, at the beginning of the year, didactics are offered regarding diversity issues in each of the seminars and supervision groups as related to the content. The program also has external presenters each year who focus their training specifically on diversity topics.

Interns increase their skills in identifying and addressing diversity issues throughout their training experiences. In the seminar and supervision group, interns present cases related to the seminar/group content, and they are expected to discuss issues of diversity that are being considered in the treatment, as well as how they are addressing these issues. They also receive feedback around this topic from other trainees in order to improve their skill in addressing these issues in their work.

The program uses outpatient case staffings for interns and staff to present cases and identify relevant diversity issues so that they can incorporate that understanding into the treatment planning process.

Interns also participate in the annual cultural humility and diversity trainings that are provided to the Stepping Stone program staff. These trainings include both a didactic training regarding the construct of cultural humility, as well as training on applying the principles to work with specific families in the school program.

Additionally, the program devotes professional issues group sessions throughout the year as opportunities for the staff and interns to present cases in which issues of diversity are particularly salient and to discuss how they are addressing those issues. This offers interns an opportunity to learn from specific case examples and to engage in collegial dialogue regarding experiences working with diverse clients and effective ways of addressing diversity issues.

Quality Improvement and Research:

Allendale Association focuses on lifelong learning and application of scientific knowledge to one's work. Research studies are carried out on occasion and interns are welcome to avail themselves of the opportunities to do research in any of the program areas at Allendale. Additionally, interns are invited to participate in the Outcomes meetings that are held monthly, where the agency looks at practice-based evidence (Campbell & Hemsley, 2009) for each of the program areas. Interns are provided multiple opportunities to apply research to their clinical work, such as through critical examination of articles and discussion of cases in professional issues, utilizing specific interventions with clients in seminars and supervision groups, didactic presentations with CE and CEU presentations, utilizing treatment feedback forms with outpatient clients, and utilizing supervision to look at the effectiveness of their specific interventions.

Patient Focused Research:

Interns apply patient-focused research (Lambert, Hansen, & Finch, 2001; Lambert, 2009) to assess the effectiveness of their interventions with clients on an ongoing basis. In outpatient, this occurs through review of client feedback forms in supervision to adjust their interventions based on the data received. For Stepping Stone clients, the interns look at other sources of data (i.e., behavioral data such as dangerous behaviors and rule violations, academic performance such as grades and attendance, etc.) in supervision and in their therapy reports, which allows them to adjust treatment interventions based on the dynamic data. Additionally, interns utilize the principles of "Patient-Focused Research" (Asay, Lambert, Gregersen, & Goates, 2002) in looking at patient outcomes by doing a Patient Focused Research Project. Over the course of the internship year, interns create a way to look at some aspect of their own practice utilizing these principles, look at data relevant to their project, and complete a brief write up of their findings that they then present in professional issues.

Training Experiences

Each psychology intern will be expected to perform the following tasks:

- Maintain a caseload of 8-10 client hours
 - Must include 8 therapy hours between 5pm and 9pm
 - Includes individual and family therapy
 - May include providing the anger management curriculum upon client request
- Complete intakes for the Outpatient program.
- Conduct psychological testing (including anger management evaluations) for outpatient clients as available.
- Maintain a case assignment of 5-6 individual therapy clients who are seen once a week in the Stepping Stone program.
- Provide clinical consultation for their Stepping Stone clients in conjunction with the multi-disciplinary team.
- Co-lead Life Plan and Community Group in the Stepping Stone program in conjunction with the classroom teacher as available.
- Participate as part of a multi-disciplinary team for all Stepping Stone and community services clients, including staffings, team meetings, and clinical meetings.
- Participate in outpatient case staffings.
- Attend continuing education presentations as scheduled.
- Document in clinical records and write reports.
- Make formal case presentations in the seminar and supervision groups.
- Practice supervision skills by facilitating group discussions of cases in Psychodynamic Interventions Seminar.
- Application of "Patient-Focused Research" principles/routine outcomes monitoring to one's own work, including completion of the "Patient-Focused Research Project."
- Fulfill any or all other clinical responsibilities, as assigned.

Expected Competencies

After completing their training, interns are expected to demonstrate competence in the following areas:

- Assessment, diagnosis, and treatment planning with individuals, families, and groups, including use of clinical assessments used in the Outpatient Program.
- Intervention with individuals, families, and groups (including empirically based/supported treatments).
- Consultation to other mental health professionals and to Stepping Stone families.
- Providing supervision as a beginning supervisor.
- Accurately evaluate the effectiveness of specific interventions with individuals and groups.

- Application of “Patient-Focused Research” principles to one’s own work.
- Critically evaluate research articles in seminars, supervisions, and the professional issues group.
- Incorporate issues of culture in the understanding of clients/families in order to develop a good working alliance.
- Professional values, ethics, and attitudes, including communication and interpersonal skills in all roles

Successful completion of the internship program and achievement of the competencies are demonstrated by the following:

- Achieve an end-of-year overall score of 2.0 or greater on the end-of-year intern evaluation form.
- Complete the required number of presentations and achieve an end-of-year overall score of 2.0 or higher on the seminar evaluation form for the required seminar.
- Achieve a score of 2.0 or higher on the following sections of the end-of-year intern evaluation: Research; Ethical and Legal Standards; Individual and Cultural Diversity; Professional Values, Attitudes, and Behaviors; Communications and Interpersonal Skills; Assessment; Intervention; Supervision; and Consultation and Interprofessional/Interdisciplinary Skills.
- Complete a project utilizing “Patient-Focused Research” principles.
- Successful completion of full battery psychological evaluations or anger management evaluations (as available) within given timeframes.

Clinical Supervision

Supervision and training are integral components of the internship program. Through intensive supervision and training in a variety of psychological services, professional competence in the practice of clinical psychology is fostered and developed. Individual and group supervision are provided in each of the treatment settings by licensed doctoral-level psychologists.

Individual Supervision: 2 hours per week:

1 hour per week therapy supervision - Outpatient
 1 hour per week therapy supervision – Stepping Stone

Group Supervision/Consultation: up to 5 hours per week:

1 hour per week Psychodynamic Interventions Seminar
 1 hour per week supervision of testing/supervision
 1 hour per week Outpatient Case Staffings
 ½ hour per week Core Team dialogue in Stepping Stone program
 3 hours per month Clinical Meeting, case presentation, or trainings with teams in Stepping Stone
 1 hour per month Stepping Stone observation/supervision of groups

Supervisor Accessibility and Back-Up Coverage:

Supervision occurs in-person and face-to-face and the supervisor maintains full professional responsibility for all clinical cases. If a situation occurs in which meeting in-person cannot be done safely, then supervision will occur virtually using a secure, user-friendly, HIPAA-compliant video platform. Such situations would be short-term, routinely assessed with the expectation that in-person supervision would resume as soon as safely possible. The ethics related to the use of virtual supervision and/ or therapy are covered during orientation.

In the event that an immediate supervisor is unavailable and a need for consultation occurs, trainees can follow the following steps:

- Contact the Training Director via cell phone.
- Should the Training Director be unavailable, please contact the Chief Psychologist via cell phone.

Performance Evaluation

A variety of opportunities for mutual evaluation and feedback regarding the intern's training progress and outcome are provided through:

- Ongoing feedback in weekly individual and group supervisions and training seminars utilizing audio tapes, detailed notes, and/or live observation (i.e., family therapy sessions). Interns are expected to bring audio recordings of their sessions to both their Outpatient and Therapeutic Day School supervisions on a consistent basis. They will also be expected to bring recordings of Clinical Consultations to their Therapeutic Day School supervision on a consistent basis as well. Interns are expected to utilize audio recordings of session material as part of their group supervision in the Psychodynamic Interventions Seminar. Members of the Outpatient Training Team will engage in direct observation of Life Plan and Community Groups in the Therapeutic Day School Program. A supervisor will also engage in direct observation of completed intakes before an intern is allowed to move to "consultation only" status for intake. For testing cases, a supervisor will engage in live observation of a portion of test administration. Finally, supervisors will be available during the hours that interns are seeing clients to provide direct in-person observation as needed for high priority/crisis situations.
- Written evaluation after each formal presentation of cases in each of the seminars and supervision groups.
- Individual meetings in November and May with the intern supervisors to discuss the intern's progress toward their training goals and areas for focus until the next formal written evaluations at mid-year and end-of-year. Interns will be provided with a written summary of the discussion.
- Mid-year and end-of-the-year formal written evaluations with supervisors and seminar instructors.

Remediation

If an intern exhibits chronic issues that impact the delivery of treatment, client care, ethical practice, professional conduct, or serious deficiency in their expected progress, a remediation plan may be developed. In such a case, the process will be as follows:

- The intern will be informed of the concerns regarding their progress in supervision and given an opportunity to work on them.
- If this is not sufficient to address the concerns, the supervisor will inform the intern that we will have a meeting to more formally address the concerns. The meeting will include the Training Director, intern's supervisors, and academic Training Director to outline the concerns and what the intern can do to improve in those areas. This meeting will include a written summary of the issues to be addressed, and a date to review the intern's progress.
- If the concerns are still not addressed at the next review date, the intern will be placed on a written remediation plan, which will include the following:
- Identification of the problem areas,
 - The desired goals towards resolving the deficiency,
 - The steps the intern can take to improve,
 - The timeframe in which the plan will be formally reviewed with the Director of Training, the intern's supervisors, and academic Training Director to assess progress (these meetings will include written feedback regarding the intern's progress toward the goals), and
 - What steps may be taken if the remediation plan is unsuccessful.

Implementation of a remediation plan is determined by the Director of Training and the individual's supervisors. The intern is actively involved in the process through formal meetings in which the plan is reviewed and the intern is given written feedback regarding their performance. Length of remediation can vary depending on the identified areas. Decisions regarding successful completion of the remediation plan are determined by the Director of Training and supervisors following a formal review with the intern. The intern's academic training director is involved throughout the process.

Application Procedure

Eligibility:

Requirements for clinical psychology internship candidates follow guidelines established by A.P.A. (750 First Street, NE, Washington, DC 20002-4242 (202) 336-5500), and A.P.P.I.C.:

The doctoral students must be "in good standing" and:

- Will be/have been accepted for doctoral candidacy in a clinical or counseling psychology program of an accredited institution (preferably an APA-accredited program), prior to beginning the internship.
- Have completed supervised psychotherapeutic and psychodiagnostic practicum experiences in psychology.

- Have obtained a letter from their graduate program's clinical training department certifying their eligibility to pursue a clinical internship program and stating whether the student has ever been on a corrective action/remediation plan or similar process.
- Have successfully passed comprehensive exams/tasks.
- Have experience and/or an interest in psychodynamic treatment, working with children/adolescents, and working with severe acting out behaviors.

Application:

To complete the application procedure, the following materials are to be submitted, via uploading the information to the APPIC server, to the Director of Clinical Training no later than November 1st.

- The APPIC Application located at www.appic.org.
- In the cover letter submitted through the APPIC process, please address the following two questions:
 1. In terms of self-awareness, what have you observed about yourself while doing clinical work with clients that is something you do well; and, also, what is something that you have observed about yourself while doing clinical work with clients that you need to improve on?
 2. In addition to gaining more experience, what are you hoping to gain out of your internship this year?
- Two letters of reference from professionals best able to provide information about clinical and professional skills and potential.

Selection Process:

The initial screening process will begin upon receipt of all materials requested on the application form. Following receipt and review of this material, the eligible applicants will be contacted for a personal interview.

Student Evaluation Guidelines

Psychology interns are evaluated on an ongoing basis throughout their training. They are given weekly feedback by the clinical supervisors, and the Training Director meets with them on a quarterly basis to review their progress toward training goals and areas of focus until the next formal written evaluation at mid-year and end-of-year (interns are provided with a written summary of these meetings). Written evaluations are completed after each presentation in the seminars and supervision groups. Formal written evaluations are completed every six-months with the supervisee by the primary clinical supervisors.

Clear learning and service delivery objectives are established with interns. In situations where an intern is not making sufficient progress at the level required for his/her position and level of training, the intern may be put on immediate probationary status.

At the time of probation, written goals will be established with the student to determine the steps needed to improve the student's performance via a remediation plan.

Probation may be invoked at any point during the intern's training. Length of probationary status will be reviewed by the Allendale committee on psychology training or by the intern's clinical supervisor(s), and the Director of Clinical Training, the Chief Psychologist, and the intern's Training Director from his/her school.

Decisions about the intern's professional or clinical potential are made on the basis of the judgment by the team of clinical supervisors of the student's work as presented in audio tapes, direct observations, and written reports.

The student's internship may be terminated if the student's clinical work or professional potential falls below the standards of clinical work that are required by Allendale and remediation has been ineffective.

When an intern violates Allendale policy, makes inappropriate clinical decisions without supervision, which adversely affects the client or the welfare of the agency, or engages in unprofessional conduct, the student may be subject to immediate dismissal.

An intern who wishes to appeal probation or dismissal should follow the Allendale Association due process.

Internship Program Admissions

Briefly describe in narrative form important information to assist potential applicants in assessing their likely fit with your program. This description must be consistent with the program's policies on intern selection and practicum and academic preparation requirements:
Interns must be accepted for doctoral candidacy in psychology prior to beginning the internship. Applicants must have satisfied all academic requirements for their program except internship and dissertation. Although it is not required to have their dissertation complete by the start of internship, it is strongly recommended. They must have passed their comprehensive exams and have completed at least two clinical practica, one in therapy and one in psychological testing. Two thousand hours are required to complete the internship. Additionally, intern applicants should have experience and/or an interest in psychodynamic treatment, working with children/adolescents, and working with a severe mental health population.

Does the program require that applicants have received a minimum number of hours of the following at time of application? If Yes, indicate how many:
Total Direct Contact Intervention Hours	N		Amount: N/A
Total Direct Contact Assessment Hours	N		Amount: N/A

Describe any other required minimum criteria used to screen applicants:

In the cover letter, please answer the following two questions:
 1. In terms of self-awareness, what have you observed about yourself while doing clinical work that is something you do well; and, also, what is something that you have observed about yourself while doing clinical work that you need to improve on?
 2. In addition to gaining more experiences, what are you hoping to gain out of your internship this year?

Record Retention:

All records related to interns' training and evaluations are maintained in a file that is kept permanently in a confidential and locked location.

Background Checks and Physical:

The Allendale Association conducts a background check for all incoming employees, trainees and volunteers. Any concerns that are raised within this background check will be discussed with the applicant before action is taken. Fingerprinting is conducted prior to employment in order to obtain DCFS clearance. Fingerprinting and the background check must be initiated at least 2 business weeks prior to the start of orientation. An additional form is also required by the state of Illinois in order to be in compliance with the Faith’s Law. A pre-employment physical is also required within 30 days of starting at Allendale.

COVID 19:

The Allendale Association follows state and local guidance and requirements. There are no requirements in place at this time.
